

UFCW WORKERS ARE ON A LUNCH OUT

Yeah, you read that right. Workers at a LABOR UNION are on a lunch out to protest their employer's refusal to bargain reasonably on the wages, telework, and other benefits they need to make the UFCW the fair and equitable workplace it should be.

Instead of acting like a model employer, UFCW Leadership is continuing to offer its own UFCW Staff Union workers just 1-2.5% in wage increases per year. And instead of offering a commonsense telework policy that allows us to recruit and retain top talent, UFCW Leadership is refusing to end the revolving door that causes talent to leave the UFCW for a workplace that listens to its own workers.

It's time for a change. It's time for UFCW to end the hypocrisy and deliver us the contract we deserve.
